Responses to the constructed-response items will be scored using criterion- and norm-referenced grading procedures. The in-class examinations are quite lengthy and typically take students 90 to 180 minutes to complete. (II.G.8.a,b,c,d,e,f; IIII.1.1,2,3)

Expectations for Students:

- f Read the assigned materials before the scheduled class meeting.
- f Attend every class meeting and be on time.
- f Complete assignments on time; late work will not be accepted.
- f Be willing to share your ideas and ask difficult questions. The academic classroom should serve as an environment where diverse, and sometimes controversial, ideas can be discussed and evaluated. The classroom will serve as a free-speech zone in which students will not be penalized for their viewpoints or opinions. [NKU's Code of Student Rights and Responsibilities states the following: "The professor has an obligation to encourage free discussion, inquiry, and expression. He/she may not evaluate student performance based on opinions (such as religious belief or political views) or conduct in matters unrelated to academic standards. Should students feel their performance has not been judged on solely academic grounds or that their grade does not reflect the quality of their work, they may appeal the professor's decision using the Academic Appeals Procedure outlined subsequently."]
- f Please turn off or place on silent mode all potentially disruptive electronic devices, such as cell phones and pagers.

Credit Hour Policy Statement

In accordance with federal policy, NKU defines a credit hour as the amount of work represented in the achievement of student learning outcomes (verified by evidence of student achievement) that reasonably approximates one hour (50 minutes) of classroom ins misconduct to the office of Student Conduct Rights and Advocacy. While academic in scope, a violation of the NKU Honor Code may be considered a violation of the NKU Code of Student Rights and Responsibilities and will follow the adjudication processes described therein. Th

Once grades are submitted, all evaluations are read not only by the instructor, but also by the instructor's department chairperson.

x Evaluations not only provide feedback to your instructor, but also provide information to the department chair for use in performance evaluations. This information affects reappointments, promotions, salaries, and teaching assignments.

Flexibility Clause

This syllabus should be regarded as a tentative document and subject to change. Any changes to the syllabus or course structure will be announced in class. Because students will be held accountable for any changes in the syllabus, it is incumbent upon students to attend all class meetings.
